TEUTON CURTAIN OF FIRE HALTS ALLIES' ATTACKS.

French and British Infantry Charge in Compact Waves, but are Brought to Standstill, Barriques of Corps Being Piled up, According to Berlin Reports—German Papers Term it a Tragedy.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Oct. 17 (via Saville).—Detailed reports about recent fighting on the Somme front show distinctly that the attacks between October 9 and October 13 are to be reckoned among the greatest actions of the whole Somme battle," says the Overseas News Agency. "The objectives of these great French and British efforts were Bapaume and Peronne. Moreover, numerous hostile attacks of violence were directed against the front from Courcelles to St. Pierre Vaast wood, north of the Somme, and between Fresnes and Mancourt, and against Chauvigny, south of the river. Of these engagements, those north of the Somme were most severe.

"On October 9, 10 and 11 the main centers of combat were north of Thiepval, north of Courcelles, near Sallies-Sallies and in the vicinity of Chauvigny. On October 12 a great and well-coordinated attack was launched over the whole front from Courcelles to Bouchavesnes."

CHARGE IN WAVES.

Speaking of the attacks on October 12, the agency says:

"The defenders of the Somme front had thought it impossible that the violence of the artillery fire in the great attack early in October could be equalled, but never even this was surpassed. In spite of the terrific half of iron and steel, French and British did not succeed in reducing the German positions to such extent that they could be stormed. French and British infantry in compact waves charged the German positions, but were speedily brought to a standstill by the German machine fire."

BUCHAREST, Oct. 17 (via London, 4:11 p.m.)—Austro-German attacks in Transylvania have been repulsed by the Romanians, the War Office announced today. The Romanians are holding their positions west of the frontier.

"In the Olt Valley the enemy has been driven back beyond the frontier. Our artillery caught up its fire an enemy battalion advancing in massed formation. Among the killed of this battalion has been found the body of its commander. We captured fifty-eight men and one machine gun."

"In Olt Valley there was lively fighting. Frontal positions changed hands several times. The fighting continues. Small enemy detachments approached the frontier between Cassin and Savaria, but were driven back. In the Olt Valley the troops from our artillery compelled the enemy to abandon his trenches and withdraw in a northerly direction. We took 140 prisoners. At Tabu Butu our troops made

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A sudden passive strike of 2000 employees of the Great Western Railway is interfering seriously with the freight traffic over that railway which carries the bulk of trade, including food products, between the western countries and London.

Three railway men were convicted of theft, says the London Daily Mail, thereupon the company dismissed them. The company refused to reinstate them pending the appeal they took from the magistrate's decision, but promised to take them back should the appeal be sustained and pay such wages as they might lose in the interim.

Upon this, 2000 employees in the railway freight yards decided to show sympathy with the dismissed men by doing only enough work to keep themselves within the law until the appeal will be heard in January.

Meanwhile, as the sympathizers are doing only 50 per cent of their normal work, thousands of pounds of foodstuffs are going to good.

THE LOS ANGELES ADVERTISING SCORE.

In printing the advertising records of all the daily and Sunday newspapers in Los Angeles every day The Times does not attempt to mislead or deceive its readers by using figures that concern only certain kinds of advertising. It boldly publishes the figures of all classes of advertising printed in each local newspaper.

The juggling of figures is left to those newspapers that dare not tell the whole truth and that have not the courage or fairness to make honest comparisons.

For the week ending Sunday, October 15, the Los Angeles newspapers published the following number of lines of advertising (2000 aggregate lines make one column):

	Display	Want	Times'
First—Los Angeles Times	164,038	91,350	255,286
Second morning paper	141,666	65,020	206,696

the British Ambassador at Washington telegraphed that the United States authorities had intercepted wireless dispatches from H.M.S. Suffolk to New York asking for supplies and newspapers and he informed us that the United States government considered that this would be making use of United States territory as a base for supplies and information as to shipping movements through the newspapers.

"The proceeding was as far as I am aware, not repeated and no official word was received, so far as I have been able to discover in the Foreign Office.

The effect of the German fire on the French and British, the news agency says, "was simply shocking."

The Germans had not lost their energy and will, notwithstanding the lack of sleep and the impossibility of obtaining sufficient food on account of the interruption to communications.

The enemy displayed remarkable tenacity and determination, the Germans who, not only had to defend positions against superior numbers, but were called on to make counter-attacks against the British, who, however, succeeded in gaining a foothold in the German line.

Whole columns of French and British were literally mown down by the German fire, in the places where the fighting was fiercest, especially before St. Pierre Vaast wood, barricades of corpses were piled up. The account ends with:

ATTACKS ABATE.

"The enemy's attacks abated somewhat on October 13. He concentrated his efforts against Sallies-Sallies and St. Pierre Vaast wood, as well as the district east of Bouchovesnes."

"There is no possible doubt the enemy attempted to reach a decision with this enormous effort. Especially on October 12 he planned to break through on the line of the Somme, but never even this was surpassed. In spite of the terrific half of iron and steel, French and British did not succeed in reducing the German positions to such extent that they could be stormed. French and British infantry in compact waves charged the German positions, but were speedily brought to a standstill by the German machine fire."

Attacks by Allies Along the Somme Break Down.

LONG BRANCH (N. J.) Oct. 17.—The Russians have suffered a heavy defeat in Galicia, the War Office announced today. Repeated attacks were repelled and trenches on a front of one and a quarter miles were taken by the Austro-German forces. Nineteen hundred prisoners and ten machine guns were captured by the inquiry.

WILSON'S PLAN FOR POLISH RELIEF FAILS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

LONG BRANCH (N. J.) Oct. 17.—President Wilson announced today that his efforts to bring about an agreement among belligerent nations to allow relief supplies to be sent to Poland had failed. The statement reads:

"The enemy artillery fire which was directed against positions of the army under Gen. Count von Bothmer was increased during that afternoon. The greatest intensity and volume of fire came from the American coast, though from a position admittedly beyond the territorial limits of the vessel named the Vandal, and this complaint referred to the United States government regarding the hovering of belligerent warships about American ports and coasts."

"The official complaint stated that the American coast was aware that the United States government had always regarded the practice of belligerent cruisers patrolling the American coast in close proximity to the coast as a violation of the neutrality of the United States and making the neighborhood a station for their observations as inconsistent with the treatment to be expected from a naval power of the first rank in time of war, and had maintained that the consequent menace of such proceedings to the freedom of American commerce was vexatious and un courteous to the United States."

"We assume that the view of the United States government is that it contained in their dispatch of the 14th of October, 1875."

THE AMERICAN VIEW.

Vicente Grey reported to the effect that the United States government would regard as an unfriendly act the hovering of belligerent vessels near the American coast in the track of commerce to American ports with intent to intercept American merchandise, and continued:

"In reply to these various requests, private and semi-official and official from the United States government, we were asked to be informed on what ground the claim was made that belligerent operations which were legitimate on one part of the high seas were illegal on another."

"Lord Beresford asks what we did. As a matter of fact, though we had contended that according to the strict principle of international law the United States had no right to interfere with the British blockade of Germany, we nevertheless asserted that the British ships were not accused of exceeding the strict legal rights under international law and that the complaints made by the United States government were not based upon any actual legality, but on irritation which the presence of belligerent war vessels in close proximity to United States ports at peace caused."

"Our battle airmen shot down six enemy aeroplanes, three of these falling behind the enemy lines. Capt. Boeke also put two enemy machines down."

"In the Champagne a French attack made north of Le Monial was repulsed. In the Aronne and Meuse ('Verdun') regions the artillery due to rain stopped."

"Our battle airmen shot down six enemy aeroplanes, three of these falling behind the enemy lines. Capt. Boeke also put two enemy machines down."

"In the three-country corner south of Doras-Wara we drove the enemy from the village of the town."

"In the frontier district south of Doras-Wara (Transylvania) the situation is unchanged. In Gergo Mountains the Romanian resistance continues."

"In the Dniester isolated Russian attacks were repelled in three sectors. South of Lopizne Dolna Russian masses attacked until night by German troops, but were successfully repelled. The German battery followed and repulsed enemy into their trenches, gained a footing there and captured thirty-six officers and 1860 men and thirty-three in Ohio.

"On Monte Pasubio during the night of October 16 and on the following morning the enemy attempted attacks which were checked promptly," the statement says.

"On the whole front yesterday and today there stopped the operations of the artillery. Heavy snowfalls in the mountains are reported."

EL PASO, Oct. 17.—Judge W. R. King, chief counsel for the United States Reclamation Service, presented a plan for limitation of irrigation projects in the West to those of the International Irrigation Congress.

Speaking as a delegate from Oregon and as an official of the Reclamation Service, Judge King urged the government to have the government approve the engineering soundness of proposed project, guarantee the water which would be issued by the water district and then have the men composing the district committee to government control of the project until a major part of the cost of the project had been collected.

The project could be turned over to the district committee, he said. This, Judge King said, would permit each district to build its own system with funds being advanced by the state, the government acting as a protective capacity only.

CHARACTER AND CREDIT.

T. M. Jardine, dean of the agricultural department of the Kansas Agricultural College, made a speech on "Water's Duty" and its relation to the farms. He recommended that farm values be fixed on a non-speculative basis and sold a credit system based upon the present credit institution, including the land bank, be closed with an act of legislation permitting the sale to farmers of their lands and sell them to men.

A Fine Aid For Mother-to-be

We are all greatly indebted to those who tell their experiences. Among them the many things which we read about and are of great importance to the expectant mother, is a special external remedy called "Mother's Friend." This is applied over the muscles of the abdomen for the commission of five bishops, five clergymen and three laymen to appear before the House of Bishops embodying these ideals to the house. The house of bishops concurred in the resolution.

A larger religious life in the United States was urged by a resolution introduced in the house of deputies by the Rev. Charles N. Tyndall of Willimantic, Pa.

This resolution, which was referred to committee, said there had been serious changes in the family life of the people during the present generation and that it is to the church that the people look for a different leadership in conserving the best elements of its influence. Mothers everywhere tell of its value in alleviating pain incident to stretching of cords, tension of rectum, and restlessness of comfort, of peaceful nights, absence of distress, relief from morning sickness, relief from the pangs of labor, etc. It is a splendid help. Get it for your nearest druggist. Ask your husband to get it for you. They write to Bradleay Regulator Co., 400 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. He will be consecrated bishop of Colorado in Denver, January 1. The Rev. Dr. Daniel S. Tutt, of St. Louis, presiding bishop of the church, will officiate.

Announcement also was made that the house of deputies will go into executive session late tomorrow to consider the confirmation of the Rev. James Wise of St. Louis as coadjutor bishop of Kansas.

HOUSE OF DEPUTIES.

The house of deputies today defeated a proposal that the Deut be sung in the morning prayer service be shortened.

Rev. Dr. George F. Hartshorn, of the house of bishops, spoke from the pulpit of the Rev. Irving P. Johnson of Faribault, Minn., will be consecrated bishop of Colorado in Denver, January 1. The Rev. Dr. Daniel S. Tutt, of St. Louis, presiding bishop of the church, will officiate.

Announcement also was made that the house of deputies will go into executive session late tomorrow to consider the confirmation of the Rev. James Wise of St. Louis as coadjutor bishop of Kansas.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17.—The Hughes special women's train was met with cordiality in all of the big cities today, and even the demonstration of women supporters of Wilson at the Ferry Building, following the disembarkation of the eastern Hughes workers, was cordial in the efforts of the Democratic women to create an impression for their own cause.

THE LOS ANGELES AD CLUB NIGHT.

SAINT BARTHÉLEMY, Oct. 17.—Mrs. W. W. Hindman, of No. 323 Third street, returned from Los Angeles tonight, she discovered that burglars had entered by means of a pane of glass and ransacked the house for valuable jewelry, including diamond rings and brooches.

On the way back to Los Angeles, Mrs. Hindman was stopped by a deer which had been born in the hills above the city. The deer was captured and turned over to the State Game Commission.

Mr. Neylan also spoke for the candidacy of Hiram Johnson and urged that all Republicans and those who have been Progressives get together in this campaign for the coming good.

SLAYS IN SELF DEFENSE, HE SAYS.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

VISALIA, Oct. 17.—Ramon Falldarino, accused of the murder of a fellow-workman following a quarrel over a small debt at a rock quarry near Visalia Hill last Friday at the County Jail today that he will plead self-defense. Falldarino has announced he will fight the case vigorously.

Officers are to be elected tomorrow to help him. Falldarino says, when suddenly Barrios picked an oak club and struck Falldarino over the head. The latter started to run when Barrios, according to the witness, started after him with his club. At this point Falldarino drew his revolver and shot Barrios dead.

Falldarino was arrested near the city limits as he was on his way, so says, to the Spanish quarter where he has friends.

DEATH NEWS COMES AFTER TWO YEARS.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

MONROVIA, Oct. 17.—Yesterday Mrs. Thomas Walker of this city received details of the death of her son, Herbert E. Walker, who was buried in France almost two years ago. The young man, 28 years old, was lance corporal in the King's Royal Rifle Corps, and met his death August 26 from a stray bullet while assisting a Red Cross attendant life guard in the combat zone of Anzio. Though twice wounded in action, Mr. Walker had returned to the front as soon as discharged from the hospital, and had passed safely through the remaining fighting of the war in the first-line trenches, only to meet his death away from the line of battle.

The first news received by his widow was to the effect that he had been killed in action. This official notice was received about a month after his death.

ADMIRAL SEBREE FOR PREPAREDNESS.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

EL CENTRO, Oct. 17.—"We have long watched the preparedness movement with deep interest and feel that it is a great service to this country," declared Rear-Admiral Sebree, U.S.N., retired, who, with Mrs. Sebree, arrived from Coronado for the annual meeting of the Imperial Valley Club. The admiral admitted that El Centro's fifty-seven feet below sea level represented the lowest point he had been in his entire service in the United States.

"It takes a long time to build a battleship. It also takes a long time to transform civilians into good sailors. Both ships and men must be trained before they can serve. That is why the men and officers of the navy, responsible for naval efficiency, are so anxious to see the preparedness work go forward."

DISASTROUS FIRE DAMAGES RIVERA.

FOUR BRICK BUSINESS BUILDINGS TOTALLY DESTROYED.

No Blue Protection Causes Loss, Although by Favorable Wind and Bucket Brigade the Town is Saved from Destruction—Will Rebuild at Once.

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE

MONROVIA, Oct. 17.—Writing from New York, where he has just landed on the British liner Cameronia, John H. McBratney of this city states that from Sunday evening, when the Cameronia picked up the German U-boat warning from a "tramp" steamer several hundred miles off the Atlantic Coast, until Tuesday evening, when the Cunarder reached New York harbor, every passenger was told to keep his life belt handy, the boats were kept swung out even with the deck and boat drills were held to familiarize the voyagers with the details of getting into the boats should the liner be torpedoed.

SAINT BARTHÉLEMY, Oct. 17.—The main business part of Rivera is a smoldering mass this evening as the result of a disastrous fire that began shortly before noon today. Four of the main business buildings, with a large part of their contents, were destroyed. The fire began in the rear of the Rivera bakery, catching from a defective gasoline stove, rapidly spread through that building and soon enveloped the group. A strong southwest wind and the burning of the bakery aided the flames to spread rapidly.

The seaside delegation was headed by E. J. Richards, director of the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power Company who founded the Long Beach Ad Club a year ago and who acted as its president until the merger of the two organizations a few weeks ago.

The banquet and ball to be held Saturday night will be the first played by the Los Angeles Ad Club in bringing the issue of port development to a successful termination.

THE LOS ANGELES AD CLUB NIGHT.

SAINT BARTHÉLEMY, Oct. 17.—The initial step in the southwest's great reclamation project was taken here today, when an option for the purchase for $2,500,000 of the property of the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power Company was recorded by Charles P. Bartholemew, attorney representing interests in Victoria Valley, where it is planned to irrigate 100,000 acres and create a second Imperial Valley.

The irrigation project will be headed by the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power Company, which has a membership now of nearly 100. During the summer, while the regular monthly meetings were suspended, the members held weekend parties at the Five 'n' Over Club.

Under the terms of the option an irrigation district must be formed within four months and then bonds must be issued for the same amount. The Little Bear Valley reservoir is practically completed. Victor C. Smith, vice-president and general manager of the Arrowhead company, has been retained to conduct the project.

Declaring that, as the acknowledged daughter of the household she is entitled to be awarded the administration of the estate, Hattie M. Hocking of Long Beach has filed in the Probate Court a petition for letters of administration in the estate of George W. Liscom and his wife, Myrtle Liscom. Mr. Liscom died August 9, 1915, and Mrs. Liscom June 20 of this year. The petitioner states that the combined value of the estate left by Mr. and Mrs. Liscom amounts to $35,000. The petitioner declares she was born in 1892 at Miles City, Mont.; that practically all her life she had lived with Mr. and Mrs. Liscom and that the former had often acknowledged her as his daughter. Her life at the Liscom home also was with the consent of Mrs. Liscom, she declared.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Liscom, Mrs. Liscom resigned as administrator of the estate in favor of her brother-in-law, Franklin Liscom. With the death of Mrs. Liscom, the question arises whether the nearest relative she has prior rights to be administratrix of the estate.

Attache of Staff of Secretary of War for Mexico Visits Los Angeles and after Conferences Proceeds to San Francisco with Engineers

Major Jose M. Carpio, attached to the staff of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, Secretary of War of the Mexican government, gave a press conference this morning.

Alexander early yesterday morning hustled himself all day with prominent Mexicans of this city, and last night left for San Francisco.

Gen. Carpio, Gen. Obregon and M. Martin, engineers in the service of the Mexican government.

Major Carpio denied that his visit to the United States is of significance, and that the reported movement on the part of Gen. Obregon to attack Gov. Canuto of Lower California, however, he admitted that his commandants are preparing to seize the capital and march on the peninsula at no distant day.

He also admitted that he might see and consult with Gen. Obregon next while in San Francisco.

The official said that conditions in Mexico City are gradually becoming better. He laughed at the rumors of dissension between Gen. Carranza and Gen. Obregon, and asserted them as groundless reports circulated by the enemies of Mexico.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

Chief Events of Yesterday.
(At Home:) Trading on the New York Stock Exchange was active and prices almost uniformly scored advances. Dealings again totaled more than a million shares, but it was noted that the speculative element was most in evidence, there being absence of much of the investment demand of the last few weeks. Bonds were strong, with extensive trading in internationals.

After a lapse of several weeks, gold imports from Canada were resumed. J. P. Morgan & Co. depositing at the assay office $5,000,000 received from Ottawa.

THE TIMES' POINTS THE WAY.

There is a golden opportunity for the increase of our trade with the Latin-American countries growing out of conditions brought about by the great European war. And in the splendid programme of trade expansion Los Angeles ought to have her part and share.

TAKE WARNING.

In Baltimore a society matron has died from burns caused from lighting a cigarette. She was a suffragette and an exceptionally brilliant woman. Evidently to save her brilliant woman Maryland needs a prohibition ordinance against selling tobacco to suffragettes. And should not brainy men be also protected against risk of conflagration from lighting pipes and cigars? We can ill spare our best citizens. After the sad case in Baltimore "cigarettes for women" will become a burning question in Maryland.

DO AS WE PLEASE.

Lord Northcliffe is entirely correct as to the probable course of the people of the United States in dealing with any foreign attempt to violate our neutrality laws or in putting our own interpretation on how those laws should be construed. He says we evidently mean to do as we please, and he has hit the nail on the head.

Certainly we shall not attempt to strain international law to suit the convenience or inconvenience of either belligerent group or to gain any unfair advantage for ourselves. This is something more than any of the warring powers of Europe can say of their past actions. In changing international laws that have done as they please, and in dealing with lawbreakers we shall do the same.

A GREAT DAM.

The Elephant Butte Dam in New Mexico, which was dedicated last week, has made from the crater of an extinct volcano a storage reservoir four times the capacity of the Aswan dam across the Nile, twice the capacity of the Roosevelt Dam in Arizona, and the largest dam in the world. It is nearly a quarter of a mile in length from wall to wall across the canyon. It is 215 feet wide at the base, tapering to eighteen feet on the top, which is used as a road. The reservoir or lake made by it will be forty-five miles long, six miles wide and sixty-six feet deep. It will hold eighty-six billion gallons of the flood waters of the Rio Grande. It has cost $10,000,000 to construct, and its waters will irrigate 200,000 acres of land in New Mexico and Texas and 30,000 acres in Chihuahua opposite the city of El Paso.

STOPPING OUR MAIIS.

Under international law or the Declaration of London what legitimate objection could a belligerent nation make if a neutral nation should combine economy with patriotism by providing for carrying mail to another neutral nation on one of its ships of war?

Imagine a United States battleship carrying mail from New York to Copenhagen on the high seas stopped by a British cruiser, taken into Kirkwall and searched for letters. Would Woodrow Wilson watchfully wait or would he protest, or what would he do about it?

But it is not a supposable case, for the commander of the American battleship would probably decline to take his ship into Kirkwall, and if the commander of the British cruiser undertook to make him do so the consequences to the British vessel might be such as to disturb the serenity of the British government.

DEATH OF CHIVALRY.

For the four months ending with September there have been sunk by German mines and submarines sixteen British and nineteen neutral vessels. Seven of the ships were Norwegian and Swedish, four were Dutch, one was Spanish and one United States. One hundred and sixteen lives were taken, of which forty-nine were British and allied and sixty-seven neutrals.

There is no longer any sea warfare. Assassination has taken the place of combat. The sea battles of Actium and Trafalgar are not to be repeated in this advanced age. No Nelson will shout "Victory or Westminster Abbey." No Lawrence will cry with his last breath "Don't give up the ship." The broadsides reeling rack will not again drown the roar of the waves. The "dying wanderer of the sea" will not look up through the battle smoke at the triumphant flag of his country. He will drown as ignominiously as a blind kitten.

Has civilization gained by the substitution of the submarine for the battleship in the sea and of the stink pot for the cavalry charge on land?

THE POWER BONDS—"THE TIMES" AND THE NEWS.

In another column—The Times publishes an authorized statement from Mayor Woodman giving the latest correct details in regard to the power negotiations and an interview with the Mayor on the same important subject. In doing so The Times is but carrying out its policy of giving all the news without distortion. It will continue to give the public correct information on the power situation, as on other subjects. It has been complimented by Mayor Woodman upon the exactness of its reports and has no complaint to make about news having been withheld, for it has had all the news all the time.

The public will notice, however, that the Examiner is very much disturbed about not getting the news and has raised a great cry to heaven and Heston upon his unfortunate predicament. First came the awful blow from the British government which showed how the Hearst papers published as cablegrams "news" which was not sent under the sea, over the sea, or upon the sea. Then came "the unkindest cut of all" which led it yesterday to roar so peevishly about not being able to give the local news.

Giving facts, dates, circumstances and details of every description, the British government not only exposed the taking of the Hearst newspapers in printing as news from England reports that never were telegraphed or mailed from the British Isles, but it emphatically announced that all British news sources would be closed to Hearst representatives from this time forth. And Mayor Woodman took the cue—that's all.

It will be readily understood that a newspaper's first duty is to publish the news and it is not surprising that the Examiner is disturbed with itself at not being able to do that. But why blame its misfortune on princes, potentates, powers and mayors?

Lack of news leads to faking, and faking is sure to be found out, as has been brought home to the Examiner in a manner so pointed. Of course if the Examiner will persist in printing fakes in order to excuse itself for not printing what really happens it must take the consequences; but if it made less noise it would not disclose so plainly how hard the shoe pinches.

No gagging of the press is attempted by the Mayor in Los Angeles, but simply the application in certain quarters of what may be called the British kind of pressure against garbled news. In the case of the power negotiations the public knows that The Times will give, as it does in regard to all the real news, the correct information from day to day.

The Times has always been one of the foremost champions of the privileges of the press and insists that the public has a right to know at all times what the public's servants are doing. It is vehemently opposed to the suppression of the news and has no liking for censors. But it has no sympathy for fakers and cannot condone their methods.

ZOLLVEREIN OF THE ALLIES.

The formation by the allied powers of a Zollverein or commercial union after the war, from which Germany and Austria should be excluded, in which the Scandinavian powers should not be equally favored and which should practically and to an extent openly antagonize the United States, did not originate at the Paris conference.

Thirty years ago the Kolnische Zeitung, which was regarded as the official organ of the German government, proposed the formation of a commercial alliance among the nations of Central Europe with a view, as the official organ expressed it, "of expanding their markets by means of treaties, so that the surpluses at any one place within their dominions may serve to make up for the deficiencies in another," and which more especially would "find its account in collectively fighting against economical commonwealths like the United States, Russia, China and Great Britain, which embrace whole continents."

Such a formation of the "United States of Europe," as the German government or styled the proposed Zollverein, would have, as admitted by the Kolnische Zeitung at the time, a peculiar significance for the United States of America.

As the feeling in Europe in respect to the export trade of the United States, especially of food products, was not friendly, Germany at that time proposed to prohibit the importation of hot products, she levied successive additions to the duties on grain and cattle, and her officials readily entertained any complaint against an American staple.

Conditions are different now from what they were in 1853. "The case being altered, it alters the case." Still it is not quite in order for Germany to go into a spasm of virtuous indignation in our behalf against the proposals of the Paris conference. We can manage to take fairly good care of ourselves against all the Zollvereins that any or all of the nations of Europe may organize against us, for we are well aware of the fact that neither Germany nor Great Britain ever bought a barrel of pork or beef or a bushel of wheat of us for any other reason than that it was to their interest to do so.

REPRESENTATIVE AND TOWN MEETING GOVERNMENT.

Those who would substitute for representative government the making of laws by means of the initiative, the interpretation of laws by means of the recall of judges, and the repeal of laws by means of the referendum are disregardful of the teachings of history.

The science of government has, since the dawn of civilization, enlisted the efforts and the genius and the wisdom of statesmen and philosophers. States and kingdoms and empires have been organized with different systems of making and enforcing laws. With every system it has been necessary that the individual should surrender a portion of his individual liberty of action for the common good, and the problem has been to devise a form of government that should promote the general welfare while protecting the freedom of action of the individual. Plato and Aristotle and Cleo and More projected ideal but impossible republics. They presented impractical abstractions of government, for they based their plans upon a community of such perfect men and women as never existed anywhere at any time in all the world.

There is no longer any sea warfare. Assassination has taken the place of combat. The sea battles of Actium and Trafalgar are not to be repeated in this advanced age. No Nelson will shout "Victory or Westminster Abbey." No Lawrence will cry with his last breath "Don't give up the ship." The broadsides reeling rack will not again drown the roar of the waves. The "dying wanderer of the sea" will not look up through the battle smoke at the triumphant flag of his country. He will drown as ignominiously as a blind kitten.

Has civilization gained by the substitution of the submarine for the battleship in the sea and of the stink pot for the cavalry charge on land?

CLEOPATRA'S BEAUTY OVERRATED.

[Kansas City Times:] Gossip is hard to put down. A choice bit of conversation which passed between Roman women at the Society for the Study of Greek Culture, and other similar circles, was the talk concerning that "good for nothing" Marcus Antonius and the languorous Queen of the Nile, Cleopatra. And the gossip still is current after more than 1900 years.

Villains have been written about her witchery—the color of her eyes and the smile with which she led the noble Roman to his destruction.

Now to begin with, Antony should be introduced. He was not the trim, athletic, handsome man so popularly pictured. Historians, whose imaginations have not run away with them, say that Antony was fat.

He was likeable, fond of display, kindly, frank and posterized eternally by his creditors. He delighted in driving about in a dower加倍地 car drawn by lions.

Antony's first plunge into matrimony with his cousin, Antonia, was a youthful, quiet affair, as quietly terminated in short order because she objected to his attentions to a popular actress. His second adventure was with a widow Fulvia, resentful of his wife's ways. Her cruelty and vindictiveness were the reverse of Antonia's disposition.

Had Fulvia lived long enough, Antony might have been entirely reformed. When she died Octavian Cesar made an effort to ally Antony with himself by a marriage between his sister, Octavia, and Antony. Already Antony had been ensnared by the wiles of Cleopatra, but it was then that the young Antonia would break the infatuation.

With his usual rood humor Antony fell in with the plan. They were married and went to Greece on a honeymoon. Octavia was not beautiful nor clever. She was a good, sensible, homely woman, amiable and forbearing. For a time Antony was attached to her. A year passed. Octavia sent her wife home on a private visit and met Cleopatra again.

MINE AND THINE.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The more industrious and enterprising and self-supporting we are today the more taxes we are called upon to disgorge. It is no longer mere taxation; it is confiscation, a species of social civil war in which classes are preyed upon each other, greedily watching opportunities to molest each other of the reward of industry.

The railway men, the best-paid workers in the country, have given us the latest example of this sort of thing. With a timid, too-prudofight administration in power the opportunity to hold up the whole country was irresistible. Not the bold barons of the middle ages, but the bold barons of union labor watch every available opportunity to meet all of our national prosperity. It is all well to talk of the paternal capital, but we, the people, are capital. We, the people, are very much the goat. These railway "employers" against whom labor-unionism insists it is fighting are very much the servants of the public, the stockholders as well as the consumers; and it is the public, not the employers, that union labor held by the throat while a slave.

COMMERCIAL.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

According to the Commercial Bulletin, October has opened with market improvement, and the demand for California dried fruits and values are firm all along the line. Dried apricots are particularly strong and are quoted somewhat higher. Apricots are well cleaned and are finding a high level as the consuming demand will permit.

Market advices concerning rain damage to figs are fully confirmed and growers continue to withhold prices on all but small quantities. Those who are quoting are asking tremendous advances over previous listings. Peaches are firm but unchanged. Citrus fruits are in market and a large business is being transacted in the same. There have been dramatic advances in the primary market area, and the price of the prune crop has turned out considerably below the original estimates. Small sizes, like the 10-cent size, are hard to get at any price. Both old and new crop prunes are in the market, and two varieties are being quoted, which causes some confusion.

Dried apples are now on hand and selling in the trade at $1.75 a box. Bellflowers are strong and the 4-cent pack is selling at the higher quotation. 14-cent dried apples, standard and pony cantaloupes have been raised 10 cents a crate. Pomegranates are easier at $1.82 a half box, quoted as coming to 75 to 85 cents a lug for extra fancy stuff. In the vegetable list okra has risen 10 cents a pound, while beans were demanding 15 cents a pound for the commodity yesterday, whereas previous quotations ran from 9 to 12 cents. Canned beans have been marked up to 25 a hundred pounds and the other varieties of dried beans are showing a tendency to follow their example.

Case count eggs dropped 2 cents a dozen at Tuesday's session of the Produce Exchange, and 5 cases of dried hands at that price. Butter and cheese were inactive. Receipts were reported as follows: Butter, 2,000 sacks; 2,500 pounds of cheese, 412 sacks of potatoes, 621 sacks of onions, 28 sacks of beans, 24 sacks of sweet potatoes and 240 boxes of apples.

CALLED FAMILY OF TRICKSTERS.*Father, Son and Daughter are All Accused.*But Justice Holds that One Charge Won't Lie.*Many Actions to Follow on Alleged Realty Fraud.

Many cases hinge on the prosecution of William Durflinger, his son, Neil, and his daughter, Miss Faye Durflinger, which occupied practically the entire day yesterday in

One of three defendants in a peculiar case involving alleged false pretenses as a means to securing property. The other two are her father and brother.

Justice Hinshaw's court, where the trio was up for a preliminary hearing on the charge of obtaining property from Mrs. Lulu Wyman under false pretenses.

While this action was under way, Attorney Clark, who has been retained by Mrs. Maupin, who had loaned money on mortgages against various properties taken over by the Durflingers, filed seven foreclosure suits on many pieces of real estate and completed one foreclosure previously filed.

A battery of attorneys, retained by original owners of these properties, also presented their claims to Justice Hinshaw.

The complaint under consideration yesterday set forth that William Durflinger had been introduced to Mrs. Lulu Wyman as "Faye Durflinger" and that he had represented himself as such a person, when "Faye Durflinger" in reality was his daughter.

As a real estate operator, it is alleged, he had obtained the ownership of the property of Mrs. Wyman, paying her in cash $350 and giving her a trust deed for $1750 for a balance on the lot in question. When she died, he is alleged to have represented her given instead of a mortgage, in order that she might secure a mortgage from another party and thereby realize sufficient money to build a residence, which he claims transpired, was never constructed.

The testimony introduced yesterday by various witnesses, who claim they had been duped, indicated that the name of the girl was Miss Faye Durflinger, in whose name the property had been transferred, secured a mortgage for $3500, not being given by her brother, Neil Durflinger. It is alleged that he actually gave her a dollar for the mortgage.

This instrument was taken to a money lender in this instance, as in the majority of the other cases to Mr. Maupin, a Texas banker residing here much of the time. The mortgage was then hypothecated for a much larger sum than in fact was paid and this amount is alleged to be placed in a building, is alleged to have really gone into the possession of the Durflinger family and remained there.

In this case the court, the mortgages were hypothesized for amounts ranging from $1250 to $2750, and the aggregate of these amounts called for is more than $15,000.

OTHERS VICTIMIZED?

Deputy District Attorney Clark, assisted by Attorneys Arthur Keitch, F. C. Muhlenman, G. R. Crump, Howard Beach and several others, introduced evidence purporting to show that in addition to Mrs. Wyman, the following had been swindled in the same manner: H. E. Burrows, Mabel M. Hughes, Lucy A. Kinnear.

On the arguments of Defense Attorney Michael P. Shannon, the court held that the Durflingers could not in these specific instances be held for breaking the law under false pretenses, but that an effort to show that the property had been embezzled or taken by trick and device, would be entertained.

TO HOLD ALL-DAY REVIVAL.

A revival which will open at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning and continue until 11 o'clock tomorrow night, will be conducted by the Union Mission, No. 200 West Avenue II. Addresses will be made by Dr. Robert Benson and Mrs. C. H. Babcock. Sing and praise services will open at 7:30 o'clock pm.
